

Mrs Nolwazi Mamorare
Chief Financial Officer
University of Johannesburg

Nolwazi is the Chief Financial Officer of the University of Johannesburg (UJ), a role she has held since May 2018. Having joined the University in 2014, she previously held the role of Executive Director responsible for Financial Governance and Revenue.

She is a Chartered Accountant graduated from Rhodes University and the University of KwaZulu-Natal.

She has held senior executive positions in a range of public and private sector organisations. Her experience spans regulatory and operational management, and assurance.

During her career, Nolwazi has led one of the largest programmes of significant regulatory reform in financial reporting and assurance for the Higher Education sector.

Her passion for education and its impact in society is longstanding, she previously served as a South African Institute of Chartered Accountants (SAICA) accredited Training Officer and in her current role has stewarded the institutional fundraising efforts.

She was recognised with the CFO of the Year Award for Non-public sector in 2020 by African Women Chartered Accountants (AWCA) in South Africa and was also a finalist for 2019 CFO of the year hosted by CFO South Africa. She won the SAICA 2023 CFO Award in May 2023.
